Count Ory

by Gioachino Rossini

"A 19th century French farce at a Medieval castle, with a score composed by an Italian — the result finally rendered in a modern, tongue in-cheek

English language libretto that captures the hectic high-speed antics of Rossini's musically brilliant 1828 opera." — Palo Alto Times

Are you ready for spring, let me know when the rain is over. Saint Patrick's Day in the Granada lounge turned out very well as did the 60 Irish Coffees' This month we will have the Granada Passover Seder and something special for Easter, get ready everything is about to bloom. April means baseball and we are going to AT&T Park again this year so stay tuned. Go Giants! Opening day April 13th against the Pittsburg catch it in the Granada TV lounge. April 19th is my daughter April's birthday and brings to mind growing up in Boston with Patriot's Day, the Red Sox game opener starts another hopeful season at Fenway Park, the re-enactments of Paul Revere's famous ride from Hanover Street in Boston's to Lexington and the Boston Marathon filling the streets with runners. Bea Digliantoni passed away, a friend of my late mother. Saint Patrick knows I'll bring my mom's ashes home to Ireland to be scattered in the Irish Sea off the Kilkenny coast. Remember, my door is always open.

Thanks
